Notes for Emery Wilcocks:

Evening News NSW 1875 - "Emery Wilcox, 35, a commercial traveller, apprehended this morning at 20 mins past 7 o'clock by Constable Day, was brought up for protection, as he was supposed to be of unsound mind. Drs. Egan and Daneey deposed to their having examined, and that they were of the opinion that he was a lunatic. Their worships ordered that the prisoner should be taken to the Darlinghurst Lunatic receiving house for medical treatment.

The Sydney Morning Herald 1876 "Emery Wilcox was brought up on warrant charged by Caroline Wilcox, his wife; with having threatened that he would drag her throat out, and, being afraid, she prayed for protection. He offered no real defence, but put several questions with a view to damage his wife's character, which signally failed, and elicited a stinging rebuke from the Bench when ordering him to enter into a recognisance with sureties, to keep the peace six months."
